SOCIAL SECURITY TRIBUNAL DECISION

DECISION BY: Lucie Leduc

HEARD ON: June 12, 2018

DATE OF DECISION: August 3, 2018

DECISION

[1] The appeal is dismissed.

OVERVIEW

[2] M. P. was working for X when he was laid off on October 20, 2016. He then established an Employment Insurance benefit period effective October 23, 2016. M. P. passed away on February 10, 2017. X issued an amended Record of Employment on May 19, 2017, reflecting the amounts paid for the definitive end of his employment, including an amount of $1076.13 from his sick leave credit. The [Canada] Employment Insurance Commission (Commission) concluded that the amount received as sick leave constitutes earnings, and it allocated this amount starting from M. P.'s date of final separation from employment—that is, during the week of February 5, 2017, the week of his death. This allocation caused an overpayment. The Estate of M. P. (Appellant) disputes the way the Commission allocated the earnings of $1076 and argues that the earnings should be applied to the date they were paid, in this case April 13, 2017. The Appellant also asks that the overpayment be written off.

ISSUE

[3] The Tribunal must decide the following issues:

- a) Did the Commission correctly allocate the sick leave pay of $1076 that was paid to M. P. following his death?
- b) Should the Appellant's debt be written off?

[4] The relevant legislative provisions are reproduced in the Appendix to this decision.

[5] In this case, it is accepted that the Claimant's sick leave credit amount of $1076 constitutes earnings within the meaning of the Employment Insurance Act (Act). I agree with this because the Federal Court of Appeal has confirmed that amounts accumulated by a worker from sick leave payment are earnings within the meaning of the Act (Lavallée v CEIC, A-691-90).

Once an amount has been identified as earnings, it is section 36 of the Employment Insurance Regulations (Regulations) that governs when and how the earnings must be allocated.

Issue 1: Did the Commission correctly allocate the sick leave pay of $1076 that was paid to M. P. following his death?

[6] The Federal Court of Appeal reaffirmed the principle that amounts that are earnings must be allocated according to section 36 of the Regulations (Boone et al. v Canada (Attorney General), 2002 FCA 257).

[7] I find that the Commission allocated the earnings correctly.

[8] The Appellant submits that the Claimant was not sick during the week of his death, so his sick leave should not be applied to a week when he was not sick. Furthermore, the Appellant argues that the Claimant was on lay-off and that he would have had to have been actively employed to have access to his leave. I cannot accept the Appellant's arguments because they are not relevant to the issue. The issue is not whether the Claimant was sick or whether he had access to his sick leave, but rather why he was paid this amount. It is common for an employer to pay certain amounts owed to a former employee following their separation from employment, such as leave, severance pay, vacations, or public holidays that they accumulated as credit. In this case, I find that the employer paid the Appellant the amount of $1076 as payment of all the amounts owed to M. P. as an employee, following his final separation from employment due to death.

[9] The Appellant also submits that the amount related to the Claimant's accumulated sick leave credit was paid to them on April 13, 2017, and that this is when it should be allocated and not to the week of his death on February 10, 2017.

[10] Unfortunately, I cannot accept this argument either. The amounts paid to a worker must be allocated to the time when they became payable, regardless of when they were paid. In this case, the amounts related to M. P.'s sick leave became payable at the time of his final separation from employment. Unfortunately, this time was established by M. P.'s death. However, the fact remains that the separation from employment that made the amount of $1076 payable to the Appellant took place on February 10, 2017. As a result, I can conclude only that the amount was paid due to the Claimant's separation from employment and that the amount is covered by section 36(9) of the Regulations, but section 36(9) clearly states that the allocation must be made starting from the week of the separation from employment—in this case, the week of February 5, 2017.

[11] I agree that the allocation in this case happens to coincide with an unfortunate event and makes the debt difficult to accept. However, even though I have great empathy for the Appellant's situation, I do not have any discretion to deviate from the provisions of the Act and existing law. Therefore, I am bound by the very clear legislative provisions and cannot deviate from them, even for excellent reasons (Knee, 2011 FCA 301).

Issue 2: Should the Appellant's debt be written off?

[12] The Tribunal notes that the Appellant also asked that I grant them a write-off of their debt. Section 56 of the Regulations specifies that it is the Commission that has the discretionary power to write off an amount owed to the Commission by a debtor (Canada (Attorney General) v Villeneuve, 2005 FCA 440). The Tribunal finds that it has no authority to make a decision regarding a write-off and that this request must be made to the Commission directly.

[13] In the circumstances of this case, I respectfully believe and recommend that the Commission should seriously consider the possibility of writing off the Appellant's debt on compassionate grounds.

CONCLUSION

[14] The appeal is dismissed.

(i) the claimant,

(ii) the claimant's unborn child, or

(iii) the child the claimant is breast-feeding.

(3) Where, subsequent to the week in which an injury referred to in paragraph (2)(d) occurs, a claimant has accumulated the number of hours of insurable employment required by section 7 or 7.1 of the Act, the payments referred to in that paragraph shall not be taken into account as earnings.

(3.1) If a self-employed person has sustained an injury referred to in paragraph (2)(d) before the beginning of the period referred to in section 152.08 of the Act, the payments referred to in that paragraph shall not be taken into account as earnings.

(4) Notwithstanding subsection (2), the payments a claimant has received or, on application, is entitled to receive under a group sickness or disability wage-loss indemnity plan or a workers' compensation plan, or as an indemnity described in paragraph (2)(f), are not earnings to be taken into account for the purpose of subsection 14(2).

(6) Notwithstanding subsection (2), the earnings referred to in subsection 36(9) and allowances that would not be deducted from benefits by virtue of subsection 16(1) are not earnings to be taken into account for the purposes of section 14.

(7) That portion of the income of a claimant that is derived from any of the following sources does not constitute earnings for the purposes referred to in subsection (2):

(a) disability pension or a lump sum or pension paid in full and final settlement of a claim made for workers' compensation payments;

(b) payments under a sickness or disability wage-loss indemnity plan that is not a group plan;

(c) relief grants in cash or in kind;

(f) employment income excluded as income pursuant to subsection 6(16) of the Income Tax Act.

(8) For the purposes of paragraphs (2)(c) and (7)(b), a sickness or disability wage-loss indemnity plan is not a group plan if it is a plan that

- (a) is not related to a group of persons who are all employed by the same employer;
- (b) is not financed in whole or in part by an employer;
- (c) is voluntarily purchased by the person participating in the plan;
- (d) is completely portable;
- (e) provides constant benefits while permitting deductions for income from other sources, where applicable; and
- (f) has rates of premium that do not depend on the experience of a group referred to in paragraph (a).

(9) For the purposes of subsection (8), “portable”, in respect of a plan referred to in that subsection, means that the benefits to which an employee covered by the plan is entitled and the rate of premium that the employee is required to pay while employed by an employer will remain equivalent if the employee becomes employed by any other employer within the same occupation.

(10) For the purposes of subsection (2), “income” includes:

- (a) in the case of a claimant who is not self-employed, that amount of the claimant’s income remaining after deducting
 - (i) expenses incurred by the claimant for the direct purpose of earning that income, and
 - (ii) the value of any consideration supplied by the claimant; and
- (b) in the case of a claimant who is self-employed in farming, the gross income from that self-employment, including any farming subsidies the claimant receives under any federal or provincial program, remaining after deducting the operating expenses, other than capital expenditures, incurred in that self-employment;
- (c) in the case of a claimant who is self-employed in employment other than farming, the amount of the gross income from that employment remaining after deducting the operating expenses, other than capital expenditures, incurred therein; and
- (d) in the case of any claimant, the value of board, living quarters and other benefits received by the claimant from or on behalf of the claimant’s employer in respect of the claimant’s employment.

(11) Subject to subsection (12), the value of the benefits referred to in paragraph (10)(d) shall be the amount fixed by agreement between the claimant and the claimant's employer and shall be an amount that is reasonable in the circumstances.

(12) Where the claimant and the employer do not agree on the value of the benefits referred to in paragraph (10)(d), or where the value fixed for those benefits by agreement between the claimant and the claimant's employer is not reasonable in the circumstances, the value shall be determined by the Commission based on the monetary value of the benefits.

(13) The value of living quarters referred to in paragraph (10)(d) includes the value of any heat, light, telephone or other benefits included with the living quarters.

(14) Where the value of living quarters is determined by the Commission, it shall be computed on the rental value of similar living quarters in the same vicinity or district.

(15) Where the remuneration of a claimant is not pecuniary or is only partly pecuniary and all or part of the non-pecuniary remuneration consists of any consideration other than living quarters and board furnished by the employer, the value of that consideration shall be included in determining the claimant's income.

(16) For the purposes of this section, living quarters means rooms or any other living accommodation.

36 (1) Subject to subsection (2), the earnings of a claimant as determined under section 35 shall be allocated to weeks in the manner described in this section and, for the purposes referred to in subsection 35(2), shall be the earnings of the claimant for those weeks.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the earnings of a claimant shall not be allocated to weeks during which they did not constitute earnings or were not taken into account as earnings under section 35.

(3) Where the period for which earnings of a claimant are payable does not coincide with a week, the earnings shall be allocated to any week that is wholly or partly in the period in the proportion that the number of days worked in the week bears to the number of days worked in the period.

(4) Earnings that are payable to a claimant under a contract of employment for the performance of services shall be allocated to the period in which the services were performed.

(5) Earnings that are payable to a claimant under a contract of employment without the performance of services or payable by an employer to a claimant in consideration of the claimant returning to or beginning work shall be allocated to the period for which they are payable.

(6) The earnings of a claimant who is self-employed, or the earnings of a claimant that are from participation in profits or commissions, that arise from the performance of services shall be allocated to the weeks in which those services are performed.

(6.1) The earnings of a claimant who is self-employed, or the earnings of a claimant that are from participation in profits or commissions, that arise from a transaction shall be allocated

(a) if the aggregate amount of earnings that arise from a transaction occurring in a week is greater than the maximum yearly insurable earnings referred to in section 4 of the Act divided by 52, to the weeks in which the work that gave rise to the transaction was performed, in a manner that is proportional to the amount of work that was performed during each of those weeks or, if no such work was performed, to the week in which the transaction occurred; or

(b) if the aggregate amount of earnings that arise from a transaction occurring in a week is less than or equal to the maximum yearly insurable earnings referred to in section 4 of the Act divided by 52, to the week in which the transaction occurred or, if the claimant demonstrates that the work that gave rise to the transaction occurred in more than one week, to the weeks in which the earnings were earned, in a manner that is proportional to the amount of work that was performed during each of those weeks.

(6.2) The earnings of a claimant who is self-employed, or the earnings of a claimant that are from participation in profits or commissions, that do not arise from the performance of services or from a transaction shall be allocated equally to each week falling within the period in which the earnings were earned.

(7) The earnings of a claimant who is self-employed in farming shall be allocated

(a) if they arose from a transaction, in accordance with subsection (6.1); and

(b) if they were received in the form of a subsidy, to the week in which the subsidy was paid.

(8) Where vacation pay is paid or payable to a claimant for a reason other than a lay-off or separation from an employment, it shall be allocated as follows:

(a) where the vacation pay is paid or payable for a specific vacation period or periods, it shall be allocated

(i) to a number of weeks that begins with the first week and ends not later than the last week of the vacation period or periods, and

(ii) in such a manner that the total earnings of the claimant from that employment are, in each consecutive week, equal to the claimant's normal weekly earnings from that employment; and

(b) in any other case, the vacation pay shall, when paid, be allocated

(i) to a number of weeks that begins with the first week for which it is payable, and

(ii) in such a manner that, for each week except the last, the amount allocated under this subsection is equal to the claimant's normal weekly earnings from that employment.

(9) Subject to subsections (10) to (11), all earnings paid or payable to a claimant by reason of a lay-off or separation from an employment shall, regardless of the period in respect of which the earnings are purported to be paid or payable, be allocated to a number of weeks that begins with the week of the lay-off or separation in such a manner that the total earnings of the claimant from that employment are, in each consecutive week except the last, equal to the claimant's normal weekly earnings from that employment.

(10) Subject to subsection (11), where earnings are paid or payable to a claimant by reason of a lay-off or separation from an employment subsequent to an allocation under subsection (9) in respect of that lay-off or separation, the subsequent earnings shall be added to the earnings that were allocated and, regardless of the period in respect of which the subsequent earnings are purported to be paid or payable, a revised allocation shall be made in accordance with subsection (9) on the basis of that total.

(10.1) The allocation of the earnings paid or payable to a claimant by reason of a lay-off or separation from an employment made in accordance with subsection (9) does not apply if

(a) the claimant's benefit period begins in the period beginning on January 25, 2009 and ending on May 29, 2010;

(b) the claimant contributed at least 30% of the maximum annual employee's premium in at least seven of the 10 years before the beginning of the claimant's benefit period;

(c) the Commission paid the claimant less than 36 weeks of regular benefits in the 260 weeks before the beginning of the claimant's benefit period; and

(d) during the period in which the earnings paid or payable by reason of the claimant's lay-off or separation from an employment are allocated in accordance with subsection (9) or, if the earnings are allocated to five weeks or less, during that period of allocation or within six weeks following the notification of the allocation, the claimant is referred by the Commission, or an authority that the Commission designates, under paragraph 25(1)(a) of the Act, to a course or program of instruction or training

(i) that is full-time,

(ii) that has a duration of at least 10 weeks or that costs at least $5,000 or 80% of the earnings paid or payable by reason of the claimant's lay-off or separation from employment,

(iii) for which the claimant assumes the entire cost, and

(iv) that begins during one of the 52 weeks following the beginning of the claimant's benefit period.

(10.2) If any of the conditions under which the Commission may terminate the claimant's referral under paragraph 27(1.1)(b) of the Act exists, the earnings paid or payable to the claimant by reason of a lay-off or separation from an employment shall be re-allocated under subsection (9).

(11) Where earnings are paid or payable in respect of an employment pursuant to a labour arbitration award or the judgment of a tribunal, or as a settlement of an issue that might otherwise have been determined by a labour arbitration award or the judgment of a tribunal, and the earnings are awarded in respect of specific weeks as a result of a finding or admission that disciplinary action was warranted, the earnings shall be allocated to a number of consecutive weeks, beginning with the first week in respect of which the earnings are awarded, in such a manner that the total earnings of the claimant from that employment are, in each week except the last week, equal to the claimant's normal weekly earnings from that employment.

(12) The following payments shall be allocated to the weeks in respect of which the payments are paid or payable:

(a) payments in respect of sick leave, maternity leave or adoption leave or leave for the care of a child or children referred to in subsection 23(1) or 152.05(1) of the Act;

(b) payments under a group sickness or disability wage-loss indemnity plan;

(c) payments referred to in paragraphs 35(2)(d) and (f);

(d) workers' compensation payments, other than a lump sum or pension paid in full and final settlement of a claim made for workers' compensation payments;

(e) payments in respect of the care or support of a family member referred to in subsection 23.1(2) or 152.06(1) of the Act; and

(f) payments in respect of the care or support of a critically ill child.

(13) A payment paid or payable to a claimant in respect of a holiday or non-working day that is observed as such by law, custom or agreement, or a holiday or non-working day immediately preceding or following a holiday or non-working day that occurs at the establishment of the employer or former employer from whom the claimant receives that payment, shall be allocated to the week in which that day occurs.

(14) The moneys referred to in paragraph 35(2)(e) that are paid or payable to a claimant on a periodic basis shall be allocated to the period for which they are paid or payable.

(15) The moneys referred to in paragraph 35(2)(e) that are paid or payable to a claimant in a lump sum shall be allocated beginning with the first week that those moneys are paid or payable to the claimant in such a manner that those moneys are equal in each week to the weekly amount, calculated in accordance with subsection (17), to which the claimant would have been entitled if the lump sum payment had been paid as an annuity.

(16) The moneys allocated in accordance with subsection (14) or (15) shall not be taken into account in the allocation of other earnings under this section.

(17) The weekly amount shall be calculated in accordance with the following formula, according to the claimant's age on the day on which the lump sum payment is paid or payable:

$$A / B$$

A is the lump sum payment; and;

B is the estimated actuarial present value* of $1 payable at the beginning of every week starting from the day on which the lump sum payment is paid or payable and payable for the claimant's lifetime, as calculated each year in accordance with the following formula and effective on January 1 of the year following its calculation:

$$B = [\sum_{t=0} \text{to infinity of } ({}_tP_x / (1+i)^t) - 0.5] \times 52$$

where

${}_tP_x$ is the probability that the claimant will survive for "t" years from the claimant's age "x" using the latest Canadian mortality rates used in the valuation of the Canada Pension Plan prorated in equal parts between males and females,

i is the annualized long-term Government of Canada benchmark bond yields averaged over the 12-month period beginning on the September 1 and ending on the August 30 before the January 1 on which the estimated actuarial present values are effective, expressed as a percentage and rounded to the nearest one tenth of a percentage, and t is the number of years that the claimant survives according to the claimant's age for which the probability of survival is estimated by ${}_tP_x$.

*Note: The estimated actuarial present values are published annually on the Service Canada website.

(18) Earnings that are payable to a claimant under a government program intended to encourage re-employment and that are payable to the claimant as a supplement to earnings arising from a contract of employment shall be allocated to the period for which they are payable.

(19) Where a claimant has earnings to which none of subsections (1) to (18) apply, those earnings shall be allocated

(a) if they arise from the performance of services, to the period in which the services are performed; and

(b) if they arise from a transaction, to the week in which the transaction occurs.

(20) For the purposes of this section, a fraction of a dollar that is equal to or greater than one half shall be taken as a dollar and a fraction that is less than one half shall be disregarded.
